GARDEN PRODUCT

Six Products Win Golden Shovel Awards

[TUSCON, AZ, January 22] - Each year, before the gardening season begins in earnest, the Gardening Products Review announces winners of the Golden Shovel Award for outstanding garden product.

To select winners of the Golden Shovel Awards, a panel of editors and product reviewers evaluates all products reviewed that year by the Gardening Products Review. Evaluation criteria include factors such as quality, ease of use, performance, innovation, usefulness, and assembly.

“With so many new garden products introduced each year, it’s difficult for consumers to know what’s worth buying and what isn’t,” said Jack Hemingway, product director for the Gardening Products Review. “These awards provide a simple way for them to find the best items for their yard and garden.”

This year, four products received recognition with the Editor’s Choice award.

The Breez R2 Propane Tiller Cultivator from Ardisam’s Earthquake brand is incredibly lightweight, quiet, easy to maneuver, and the world’s first propane-powered cultivator on the market.

Redback’s 40V, 12” lithium ion chainsaw (model 106068) has all the necessary power to cut through anything from small brush to 10.5” logs, making it comparable to a consumer-grade, gasoline-powered chainsaw.

The Aeroflex™ expanding hose from Bond Manufacturing is lightweight but very durable, and stretches to a full-size 5/8 inch diameter and 50 feet in length.

Finally, the Scroll Trellis adjustable trellis allows you to easily grow vines up posts, poles and in narrow spaces, solving a common problem for many gardeners.

The Readers’ Choice award was given to the two products receiving the most votes from readers of the Gardening Products Review. This year’s winners were the Yard Force 120V RX Lithium-Ion Cordless Blower, a powerful blower that makes quick work of moving leaves and debris, and the Stanley FATMAX Hybrid Forged Bypass Pruner which introduces some nice improvements over the typical bypass pruner.
